Friction in Viet Nam Is Way of Life

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Friction is a constant, a way of life, in the politics of South Viet Nam.

The friction discernible now could ignite a new political explosion. The Americans and their allies in Viet Nam's frustrating war are keeping their fingers crossed. They pin their hopes on an odd sort of stability which has marked the rule of Premier Nguyen Cao Ky and the 10 men associated with him in the ruling military junta.

Here the word "stability," as so many other words, is a relative term. At the moment, on the surface, the position of the flamboyant young air vice-marshal who runs the show seems fairly secure.

Will it last? The history of Saigon governments since President Ngo Dinh Diem was overthrown three years ago has been one of coup, countercoup, plots and confusion.

The answer seems to be this: The Ky regime will last as long as the generals in the junta, "the national leadership committee," remain on his side. Two members of the junta will be watched for signs pointing one way or another.

Lt. Gen. Nguyen Huu Co, who is considered a capable military officer, has suffered from widespread rumors, and there are reports that he has aroused the anger of Americans here. He may be marked for oblivion. He is believed to have the loyalty of a group of influential military men. Any attempt to oust him from the junta could provoke crisis.

The other junta member being watched is Lt. Gen. Dang Van Quang. He commands the 4th Corps in the Mekong delta, where half of South Viet Nam's population lives. Quang has, in the past, opposed the introduction of large American units in the delta, complaining that Americans did not know how to deal with Vietnamese. The Vietnamese there are not showing much talent in that direction either.

The Americans, however, are going in, probably soon and in force, whether or not Quang has changed his mind in recent months. The delta is one key to the war, scene of the bloodiest fighting at village and hamlet level. Civilian casualties there are painfully high. The brunt of fighting and heavy losses is borne by irregular regional, district and village forces rather than the regular Republic of Viet Nam forces.

Since Americans have taken over the major burden of the fighting, the regime can concentrate more of its armed power on keeping its grip on the nation's political life. Army men are less unhappy because the 200,000 regulars in many areas now do little more than rear-guard duty behind the Americans and are less subject to battle casualties.

Kennedy Pictures to Archives

By GAYLORD SHAW
WASHINGTON (AP) — The family of President John F. Kennedy has turned over to the National Archives pictures taken in connection with the autopsy performed after his assassination — pictures that doctors say add nothing to evidence already on record.

The 65 pictures and X-rays, which were not examined by the Warren Commission during its investigation, were presented to the archives under conditions which virtually preclude public viewing of them for many years.

A Justice Department spokesman said Tuesday night the department had asked for the 14 X-rays, 25 black-and-white negatives and 26 color transparencies to complete the government's collection of assassination material for the historical record.

The two Navy pathologists who performed the autopsy the night after Kennedy was shot said in interviews Tuesday night the X-rays and pictures merely back up testimony they gave the commission. And one of them said the photographs were intended for use in the trial of Lee Harvey Oswald, named by the commission as Kennedy's assassin.

"These photos are nothing more than supportive evidence for information we presented to the Warren Commission," said Cmdr. J. Thornton Boswell, who assisted Cmdr. James J. Humes in the autopsy. "All they would do would be to document what we discussed. I am sure the photographs would corroborate our testimony."

Boswell added: "They were medical-legal photographs taken for presentation in court at the Oswald trial. Oswald was still alive at the time of the autopsy."

Kennedy was assassinated in Dallas, Tex., Nov. 22, 1963. Two days later, Oswald was shot and killed by Jack Ruby in a corridor of the Dallas jail.

Humes said commission members had asked whether the pictures were needed in connection with the pathologists' testimony. "We felt they were not," he said.

Asked whether the pictures disclosed anything not covered in the testimony, Humes said, "I would not have testified before the commission the way I did if I felt there was anything different about them."

Some recent criticism of the commission focused on the fact that the commission did not see autopsy pictures.

The commission member, Allen W. Dulles, said he didn't recall the circumstances surrounding the commission's decision not to examine the pictures.

Registration of Negroes Up Sharply

By WILLIAM T. PEACOCK
WASHINGTON (AP) — Negro registration zoomed up sharply in the South in the last year and probably increased considerably in the country as a whole.

Negro ballots could weigh heavily — perhaps be pivotal — in some of this year's major election contests if a high percentage of registered Negroes vote.

Precise figures on the number of U.S. Negroes qualified to vote are unobtainable because most states do not keep registration figures by races.

The Democratic National Committee uses the figure six million in news releases which have occasion to mention one. This is the same figure it used in 1964.

However, Louis Martin, deputy committee chairman, a Negro who works particularly in this field, says he believes it is actually considerably higher. For the South alone, he estimates the current total at 2.5 million.

The Republican National Committee says it has no current figures.

The Justice Department's civil rights division reports that Negro registration rose from 687,000 to 1,016,800 between Aug. 6, 1965 and last Aug. 6 in these five states: Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi and South Carolina.

The 1965 date is that on which President Johnson signed the Voting Rights Act of 1965 which permitted the dispatch of federal registrars to states where the attorney general found discrimination to exist.

Aside from actions by federal registrars there has been an increase due to registration drives by civil rights groups.

HALLOWEEN PARTY AT KINDERGARTEN

Halloween parties were held at the Kiddie Korner Kindergarten on October 31. Appropriate Halloween decorations were seen throughout the party rooms where 28 of the nursery children enjoyed an afternoon party under the direction of Mrs. Charles Butler and Mrs. Melvin Thrash, assisted by Mrs. Walter Miller, Jr. and Mrs. Charles Stone. The gaily costumed boys and girls were served cup cakes, candy, and punch.

That evening, Mrs. Stone had a party at the same site for her daughter, Wanda Ann, and members of the kindergarten-age group. Again, Halloween costumes and decorations were seen. They included a jack-o-lantern and decorated cake on the serving table. Cake and punch were served to 55 by Mrs. Stone, assisted by Mrs. Butler, Mrs. Thrash and Mrs. Miller.

BRIDGE CLUB MEETS

Mike Kelly and Mrs. R. L. Broach were the first place winners at the Hope Duplicate Bridge Club meeting on Monday, Oct. 31 at the Hope Country Club. Mrs. Emmett Thompson and Mrs. Marie C. Hendrix were second, and Dr. Lynn Harris and R. L. Broach placed third.

Stitchery is an art as old as time. Originally, stitches were used to put nonwoven fabrics together to make a useful object. For example, in the days of earliest recorded history, animal skins were sewn together to form a garment.

Today, the lady of the finest home emulates her cave dwelling forebears by stitching useful, attractive objects. She uses her creativity—and her needles. For generations, the afghan has been a family prize as an heirloom in the making. The history of afghans goes back several centuries. Originally, afghans were Turkoman rugs, according to the Bernat Needlework Research Center. The exotic carpets, woven in a geometric design by seminomadic tribesmen of the Middle East, were distinctive luxuries, handed down from generation to generation.

The fine afghans you can make today are far easier and

Frances Langford, whose sentimental songs brought comfort to fighting men in two American wars, is leaving next week to entertain in another one.

She takes off Nov. 12 for Viet Nam, where she will sing her longtime standards — and some rock 'n' roll, too — for the sons of GI's she entertained as part of the Bob Hope troupe in World War II and on her own in Korea. "Oh, I suppose there might be a few of the older officers in Viet Nam who will remember me," she laughed.

Miss Langford came here from her Stuart, Fla., home to polish up her act and get fitted for some slinky new gowns by Edith Head. The singer and her husband, outboard-motor tycoon Ralph Evinrude, also maintain a home in Milwaukee, where his factory is located.

"We have a resort at Stuart, with a restaurant and night club," she explained. "I sing there now and then with Tony Romano, who went on the Hope tours with us, and his cousin, whom he calls Johnny Cuzzins. Vaughn Monroe lives down the road, and Perry Como has a house nearby, and they often rapidly and smoothly, compared to the laborious knotting of old-world afghans.

Today's treasured afghans are lightweight, much brighter than their heavy burgundy-colored ancestors. And the modern afghan is far more versatile. When you're not enjoying your afghan as a warm wrap-around use it as a throw for the sofa or chair or drape your handcrafted showpiece diagonally across a low bench, chest or window-seat.

Our design for a custom-crafted cover, which you can make easily if you knit, is inspired by an antique Danish tapestry bellpull. The multi-colored floral pattern is embroidered on the afghan-stitched panels.

Back in 1942 Miss Langford made her first tour for the troupe, visiting bases in Alaska. In 1943 she went with Hope to England, Africa and Sicily. "That's when we encountered the most danger in our travels," she said. "We were bombed two or three times a night in Africa and Sicily."

The troupe also came near the action during the Pacific tour of 1944. The day after the entertainers appeared on Biak Island, a Japanese sniper was captured. He said he had watched the whole show from a coco palm and enjoyed it very much.

Will Visit Famous Bomber

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — A man and a boy who both love the Memphis Belle plan a meeting next month to visit the famous World War II bomber. Robert K. Morgan of Asheville, N.C., who piloted the Belle to fame in the war, and David Pitts, 13, of Pleasant Grove, Ala., who seeks to stem her peacetime decline, will come to Memphis, Tenn., for the Liberty Bowl football game Dec. 10 and a visit with the Belle.

By then the B17 may have a new look, thanks to David, who wrote letters to officials asking that the plane's peeling paint and broken windows be fixed. An American Legion post has promised to take care of the plane, which is now a monument. The Belle was the first American bomber to fly 25 missions over Nazi Europe.

Morgan, now an automobile dealer, will fly his own plane to Birmingham to pick up David for the trip to Memphis.

Knit Knacks
Are you interested in needlework and don't know how to begin? Visit your local art needlework or yarn shop. Most shops have a needlework expert who is ready and willing to help you learn. Knitting, for example, is wonderfully easy. It's simply a matter of knitting and purling; intricate-looking patterns are merely variations of these two basic stitches.

Decide what you'd like to do—knit, crochet or perhaps make a needlepoint chair cover. Then visit your art needlework shop or department, ask the expert's advice and you're on your way. Happy clicking!

FAITH AND FORMULAS
NEW YORK (AP) — "It is perfectly conceivable that one can explicitly deny God, even while implicitly affirming him in yet other things one reflectively affirms."

So says the Rev. Dr. Schubert M. Ogden, of Southern Methodist University, in a new book, "The Reality of God" (Harper). Since conscious belief can exist "only in terms of some theistic scheme," he says, it is possible to reject the scheme, while not rejecting the basic faith it seeks to represent.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — For sheer flexibility it is hard to beat the man-on-the-run theme for a television series.

This has been demonstrated for several seasons by ABC's "The Fugitive," and NBC's "Run for Your Life," both created by Roy Huggins.

Dr. Kimble of "The Fugitive" is an innocent man convicted of murder who is running from the authorities while searching for the real killer. Each week he is almost caught, but we know that he'll get away at the last second just as we know who will win the shoot-out in the Western.

"Run for Your Life" is pegged on the grisly premise of a man with a medical death sentence trying to crowd a lot of living into the time he has left.

This one has more freedom and larger scope in the plots. One week we encounter the hero, Paul Bryan, in a dinner jacket at a chic penthouse party and the next he is crawling through a tropical jungle.

Most of the time he is saving a pretty girl. The principle action comes from new characters encountered each week.

Some programs are better than others, which is true of all series which have many contributing script writers. Monday night's episode was not one of the best, moving at a snail's pace in spite of an enormous amount of shooting, saber rattling and a vicious fight.

The hero was in an unidentified banana republic for the marlin fishing, went to the aid of a pretty girl in a bar and then, accompanied her on a long jungle hike to the mountain lair of a rebel leader.

The idea was to get the girl's father, an American novelist, to leave the rebel camp since a revolution was pending. The slow-down came with a lot of pretentious talk about whether the rebel leader was an idealist or an embryonic Castro and even more about a writer's "commitment."

Ben Gazzara plays the hero with a quiet irony which is often highly effective but a little more emotion might have picked up Monday night's show. Week in and week out, however, it is one of television's superior offerings.

FRIENDLY DIVORCE CAN BE TOO FRIENDLY

Dear Helen: I'm all for being mature and sensible when it comes to divorce, but my wife's divorce is just TOO friendly. Her ex-husband and his new wife live here and my wife thinks it is "proving something" to entertain them. She says this will help get the new one accepted.

When the new wife and the former wife start discussing husbands, you can see my wife has the edge. Maybe she enjoys this, but I think there's such a thing as being too modern. You?—MIKE
Dear Mike: I too! You can't make a foursome out of shifted twosomes. If a divorce is THAT friendly, it could mean one or the other regrets it.—H

Dear Helen: I don't think those wild letters on the evils of mud really touched on the heart of the problem. It is not actually men, but other women who are the victims of the "low-cut dress and the above the knee" set.

I know painfully well how embarrassing it is to be out on a date with a man and catch him stupidly staring open-mouthed at a near-bare woman. The brightest conversationalist in the world wouldn't be able to get his attention back.

We girls have two choices for solving this problem: rebel against our modest upbringing and join the "in" (actually "out") group, or find a guy who wears thick glasses and steal them!—JUDY

Dear Helen: Correction please! If you tell people to "let fly with the rice bags which, of course, will break open" when it hits the bride and groom, you'll be sending a lot of happy couples on their honeymoons with black eyes and assorted bruises. Commercially tied rice bags are NOT tied loosely. Before guests throw them, they must untie the ribbon. They won't break open as they are made with nylon net. Help save a bride and print this, Helen.—MRS. S.

Dear Mrs. S.: Be glad to. Wedding guests: check your rice bags and untie before you let fly. Would the bride toss down her bouquet in the vase?—H.
HE NEEDS EDUCATING
Dear Helen: I have just lost my husband, not to another woman, but to the cause of education.

For years he has been going to college, either part-time or full-time. I have always worked, giving him all the money I've earned except enough for living expenses and babysitting fees. I've done the housework, been father and mother to our four children, skipped social life, all in favor of education, because I believe that someday it would be different.

Well, it's different all right. He casually announced to me that he no longer loves me and wants to separate which we have done. He said he knew I wouldn't be happy with him as I didn't even finish high school.

We still love him and want him back. Is there hope, or has he become an educated snob?—BEWILDERED WIFE

Dear Wife: He may be back when he again wants to "live by the sweat of his brow." The question is: do you want to support a snobbish professional student all your life?—H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help YOU. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of Hope Star.

Thinks Hogs Will Defeat Rice Owls

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
NEW YORK (AP) — Here's hoping for a quick recovery from the worst weekend of the season with 18 losses among the 56 games that reached a decision for a paltry .679 average.

The forecast for this Saturday's top college football games:

Notre Dame over Pittsburgh: The Irish are awesomely strong, the Panthers woefully weak.

Michigan State over Iowa: The Broadway betting gentry says Michigan State will win by 28 points. The Spartans are that good, too.

UCLA over Washington: Gary Beban of the Bruins rates as one of the three top quarterbacks of the season and the Huskies have no one who can match him.

Alabama over Louisiana State: Ken Stabler and Wayne Trimble give Alabama double protection at quarterback and should keep the Tide on the right track against a team suffering from injuries.

Georgia Tech over Virginia: Could turn into a romp.

Nebraska over Kansas: The Huskers not only are big but they also are fast, agile, talented, determined and very, very good.

Florida over Georgia: Steve Spurrier continues Florida's last-quarter magic at the expense of the once-beaten Bulldogs, whose only defeat was a 7-6 setback in the mud at Miami.

Arkansas over Rice: This is Jess Neely's final year as coach at Rice and the season becomes more sad every Saturday.

Southern California over California: Everybody mentions the Trojan offense but their defense has allowed only 40 points in seven games. California has allowed 143.

Tennessee over Chattanooga: Not in the same league.

Harvard over Princeton: Bob by Leo and Vic Gatto provide the Crimson with the best running attack in the Ivy League.

Miami over Tulane: A rare trip away from home for the Miami team and the boys will show their appreciation with a 10-point triumph.

Purdue over Wisconsin: The Boilermakers, beaten only by Notre Dame and Michigan State, want that trip to the Rose Bowl. Bob Griese to show them the way.

Syracuse over Penn State: Floyd Little will break loose for at least one touchdown run.

He Co-operated, But That Wasn't Enough

By SANDY PADWE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Jon MacBeth always was a nervous kid, even when it was all over and nothing was left but the trials of the people who had tried to bribe him.

MacBeth was playing full-back for the University of Florida in 1961 when Aaron Wagman approached him with $1,500 to make a key fumble or miss a few tackles in a game against Florida State.

Wagman was expanding his operations. Previously he had acted as a contact man for a basketball syndicate which had fixed a number of games around the country between 1956 and 1961.

Now they were trying football. Only Jon MacBeth wasn't co-operating.

He reported Wagman's bribe offer to his coach, Ray Graves, who then reported it to his authorities.

When Wagman was arrested it led to the break in the basketball scandals which enveloped a number of colleges and athletes.

Now, Jon MacBeth is a public figure again because three men have been arrested trying to bribe Louisiana State University football players.

It brought back a memory of MacBeth, then a rookie hopeful with the Pittsburgh Steelers, talking about the decision which had affected his life so much.

"I don't know why they picked on me," he said. "I was a nobody. I wonder how many other guys they got."

It was July of 1962 and MacBeth was sitting in the air-conditioned lobby of a Pittsburgh hotel, his powerful

Pro Cards Regain Lead in National

By BEN BROWN
ST. LOUIS (AP) — Two mighty defensive units dominated Monday night's National Football League game between St. Louis and the Chicago Bears, and the difference was Larry Wilson, a 190-pound defensive safety for the Cardinals.

Wilson intercepted three passes, including one that he returned for a touchdown, as St. Louis moved back into first place in the Eastern Conference with a hard-fought 24-17 victory over the Bears.

St. Louis regained the lead in the Eastern Conference as result of the victory. The Cards are 6-1-1, just ahead of Dallas, 5-1-1. Chicago, a member of the Western Conference, is 3-4.

John Roland bulled over from the three for two first-quarter touchdowns to give St. Louis a quick two-touchdown margin.

Rudy Bukich's sneak and his 80-yard pass play to Gale Sayers enabled Chicago to keep within a touchdown of the Cardinals.

Jim Bakken of St. Louis and Roger Leclerc of the Bears booted field goals of 40 and 16 yards, respectively, to complete the scoring.

Wilson sat quietly in the dressing room after the game and had little to say about his performance. However, his coach, Charley Winner, did the talking.

"He's played great football all year," Winner said. "I don't think he's capable of playing a bad game. . . ."

Winner said the Cardinals switched Wilson, a seven-year veteran from Utah, around at times. "You can't expect to do the same things you've been doing and beat (Chicago Coach) George Halas."

Halas praised Wilson's play, terming him one of the game's best defensive players ever.

Chicago picked up 262 yards passing and rushing while St. Louis could muster only 166 against the Bears. Charley Johnson, the St. Louis quarterback, hit only four of 16 passes for 47 yards while Bukich connected on 12 of 28 for 172 yards.

Athletic Directors Steve Seba of Virginia, Dan Devine of Missouri and Forest Evashevski of Iowa were former assistant football coaches to Biggie Munn at Michigan State.

He Co-operated, But That Wasn't Enough

By SANDY PADWE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Jon MacBeth always was a nervous kid, even when it was all over and nothing was left but the trials of the people who had tried to bribe him.

MacBeth was playing full-back for the University of Florida in 1961 when Aaron Wagman approached him with $1,500 to make a key fumble or miss a few tackles in a game against Florida State.

Wagman was expanding his operations. Previously he had acted as a contact man for a basketball syndicate which had fixed a number of games around the country between 1956 and 1961.

Now they were trying football. Only Jon MacBeth wasn't co-operating.

He reported Wagman's bribe offer to his coach, Ray Graves, who then reported it to his authorities.

When Wagman was arrested it led to the break in the basketball scandals which enveloped a number of colleges and athletes.

Now, Jon MacBeth is a public figure again because three men have been arrested trying to bribe Louisiana State University football players.

It brought back a memory of MacBeth, then a rookie hopeful with the Pittsburgh Steelers, talking about the decision which had affected his life so much.

"I don't know why they picked on me," he said. "I was a nobody. I wonder how many other guys they got."

It was July of 1962 and MacBeth was sitting in the air-conditioned lobby of a Pittsburgh hotel, his powerful

Bobcats to Warren on Friday Night

By LARRY DON WRIGHT
Hope Star Sports-Writer

After experiencing their first taste of victory since early in the season, Hope Bobcats will be trying to make it two in a row Friday night when they play the Lumberjacks at Warren.

The 20-7 win over Camden last Friday boosted the Cats' season record to a perfectly even mark of four wins, four losses, and a tie.

Comparing performances with mutual opponents suggests that it should be a typical wild and woolly 4AA thriller. Both teams have similar wins over Camden, as Warren downed the Panthers, 20-2.

In addition, both fell to mighty Crossett as the Eagles romped by Hope 34-0 and Warren 27-0. There are several other comparisons between the two.

The one difference in the district performances of the two teams is that the Lumberjacks pulled the big upset over Malvern which the Cats narrowly missed earlier in the year.

Warren edged out the Leopards 12-6 while the Cats lost to Malvern barely by the margin of 13-7 in a game which could have gone either way.

The game accounts for the difference in the district records of the two teams. Hope holds a district mark of 3-4, while the Lumberjacks sport a record of 3-2.

Both teams still entertain hopes of finishing high in the final 4AA standings. In fact there is still a mathematical possibility that the number two team in the district after the last week of play will have a 4-4 record. That places both Hope and Warren as possibilities in this category.

If the Bobcats are to remain eligible for that second place spot they will have to turn back the Lumberjacks Friday night. In order to do this they'll have to contain the efforts of Warren's flashy quarterback, Robert Dew.

Dew is cited as one of the most elusive backs the Bobcats have met this year. This includes the speed merchants of the Crossett backfield and DeQueen's rushing king, Bill Stainton. But Dew has the added advantage of operating from an even more dangerous position as quarterback.

The Bobcats will leave by bus for Warren at 1 p.m. Friday afternoon for their 7:30 engagement with the Lumberjacks.

Boston Bruins Take Swipe at Hawks

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Great things have been forecast for the young and hustling Boston Bruins, who gave the National Hockey League-leading Chicago Black Hawks a swipe of the claw Tuesday night.

The Bruins tossed a stonewall defense and the sharp goaltending of Bernie Parent against the Hawks to walk off with a 3-2 victory.

The loss was the first in five games for the Hawks, who showed the effects of a six-day layoff. The triumph enabled the Bruins to bounce out of a last-place tie into third place, one point behind Montreal and three behind the Hawks.

Only one game is scheduled Wednesday in the NHL, and that finds Montreal at Toronto.

Hands and who are getting out now.

"Anyway, we can't report them because we have nothing to go on."

The threats aren't new.

After my case broke," MacBeth was quoted. "I got quite a few threats. Some FBI men used to come to Pensacola (MacBeth's home) and double check with me on facts. They told me everything would be all right, but when I asked what would happen if there was trouble, they said they didn't think they could do anything unless they were right there when it happened."

So far, nothing has happened to Jon MacBeth. Hopefully nothing will, but he has withdrawn into himself much more because of what has happened.

"I'm sorry to hear that," said Ray Graves, the University of Florida football coach. "I haven't seen that much of Jon since he left the university. He was a good boy who did a good job co-operating with the authorities."

It's not a pleasant picture for Jim Dousay, Gawan DiBetta and Billy Masters, the three LSU players who made the same decision as Jon MacBeth.

Eagles Can't Lose Dist. 4AA Title

The Crossett Eagles are the 1966 Div. 4AA football champions. This fact was established as a result of conference action this past weekend. The Magnolia Panthers upset the Fairview Cardinals 26-6 and eliminated the Cardinal challenge to the Eagles. Crossett defeated Smackover 26-2.

Crossett now holds a 6-0-1 record with only Fairview on their league slate. Fairview dropped to two defeats along with Malvern and Warren.

Coach John Pierce's Eagles, leader in almost every statistical department, won the football crown last year.

Other results from last week: Hope 20 Camden 7; Sheridan 32 Malvern 6; Gurdon 6 Arkadelphia 0; Fordyce 32 Warren 12.

With the Eagles a clinch for the title the scramble is now on for runner-up honors. Only conference play this weekend sends Hope to Warren and Arkadelphia to Fairview.

Non-loop games find Malvern host to Benton and Magnolia travels to Nashville. Camden and Crossett are open.

Jim Boyette of Fairview was able to retain possession of the Individual Scoring leadership despite the Cardinal loss. His six TD's, 12 extra points, and one field goal—for a total of 51 points—puts him in the lead.

Luther Shaw of Hope kicked two field goals in their game against Camden and this put him as the leader in this department.

R. Riley of Crossett leads the extra point makers with 19 PAT's. The Crossett Eagles have now scored 200 points, allowed but 15 points against them, had a net yards rushing total of 2,046 and allowed the opponents a total of 59 yards.

The Eagles have moved the first down sticks 109 times, and allowed 45 first downs by opponents. One of the few departments the Eagles fail to lead is Net Yards Passing.

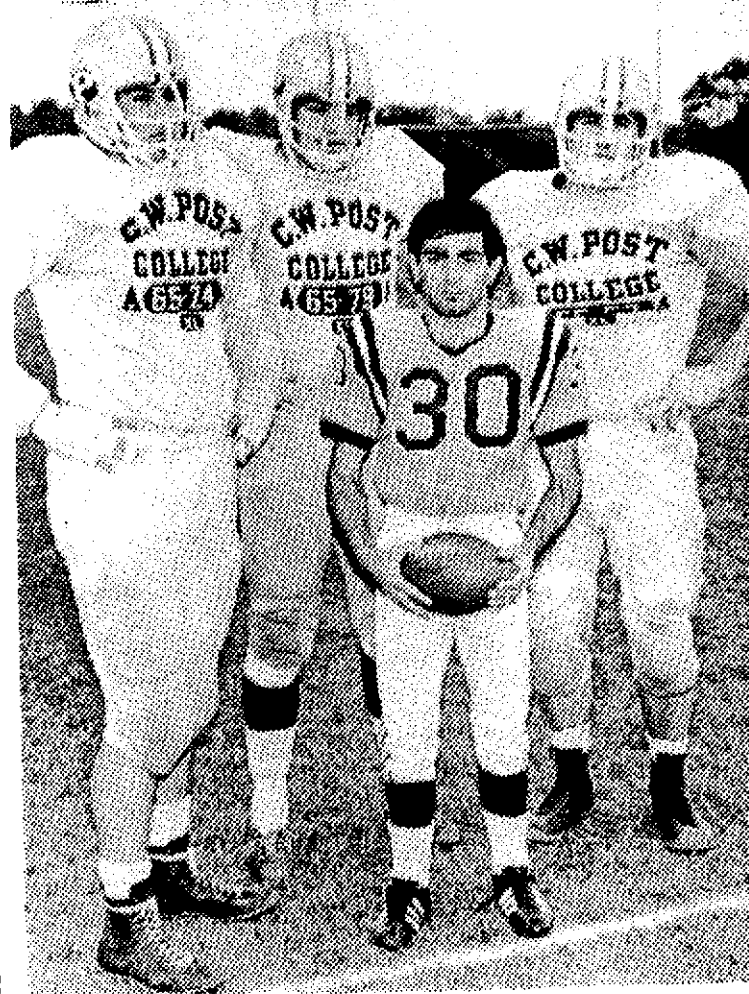

The Standings

Crossett Eagles	6	0	1
Malvern Leopards	4	2	0
Fairview Cardinals	3	2	0

Olympic Group Names President

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Dr. Josue Saez was elected president of the Mexican Olympic Committee Monday night, replacing Gen. Jose de Jesus Clark Flores, who resigned last week.

Since the formation of the Southeastern Conference in 1933 Alabama has had only five losing football seasons.

NEW YORK'S C. W. Post College may have the smallest man in college football on its team. He's Sebastian Di Rubba, shown here being dwarfed by some normal-sized teammates. DiRubba stands one-inch over the five-foot mark and tips the scales at a hefty 115 pounds. As might be expected, he's a soccer-style kicker of the Gogolak variety. Sebastian's uniform is one tailored for coach Joe Scanella's 11-year-old son.

Bercher Has Chance for U.S. Title

By ED SHEARER

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Martine Bercher, a 180-pounder with exceptional quickness, has eighth-ranked Arkansas vying again for the national punt return championship, but it's other qualities that make many regard him the finest safety in recent Razorback history.

"If he can continue to perform as he has in the first seven games," says Coach Frank Broyles, "He would have to draw strong consideration on the All-America teams."

Bercher has scored on returns of 64 yards against Tulsa and 59 yards against Texas A&M. He had a 49-yard return to set up the game-winning touchdown in a 12-7 triumph over Texas and darted 18 yards to the Oklahoma State 30 in the final three minutes of the season opener as Arkansas went on to a 14-10 comeback victory.

Against Texas he forced four incomplete passes by cracking a receiver as he took the pass and he added two others against A&M. Bercher has intercepted two passes in Arkansas' zone defense, both when the opponent had gotten behind the defensive halfbacks.

In the last six years Arkansas has led the nation in punt returns four times—Lance Alworth twice and Kenny Hatfield twice—and finished second once.

Bercher now has 20 returns for 304 yards, a 15.2 average per return.

The San Francisco Giants had poor success with the Philadelphia Phillies during the baseball season. The Phillies beat them 10 times in 18 games, the best record any team had against the Giants in 1966.

Big Week Ahead

Egad, friends, there will be big things stirring in the college football world this Saturday.

Everywhere one looks—East, West, Midwest or South—a pigskin treat is in store.

In the West, Southern California will rebound from its stunning defeat at the hands of Miami of Florida to trounce arch-rival California, 35-7, thus keeping alive its Rose Bowl hopes.

On the eastern front, the Syracuse and Penn State juggernauts, which appear to have righted themselves after undistinguished starts this season, will stage an old-fashioned donnybrook with the Orange of Syracuse the eventual winner, 30-28.

The South's top attraction, pitting Alabama against L.S.U. in neutral Birmingham, will provide the big news of the day. After a painstaking perusal of all pertinent factors, I predict the Fighting Tigers of L.S.U. will stem the Crimson Tide, 10-7—kaff-kaff!

In the Midwest, the twin spotlights continue to play on Michigan State and Notre Dame as they drive full steam ahead on a collision course. With their showdown battle for the probable national title only two weeks away, both the Irish and Spartans figure to score easy triumphs this weekend.

The Hoople System forecasts a 49-7 victory for Notre Dame over visiting Pittsburgh, and a slightly more difficult 26-6 conquest of Iowa for Michigan State—har-rumph!

Now go on with the forecast.

New Orleans Gets a Pro Grid Team

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The name and owner haven't been decided but New Orleans will have a team in the National Football League when play opens next season.

The NFL franchise was announced here Tuesday by Pete Rozelle, the NFL commissioner.

"New Orleans has the population (about 1,053,000), it has the sports interest, it has the weather," said Rozelle. "Geographically, it fits into our plans and more important at this time it has the very attractive stadium available for the 1967 season."

The stadium is the 82,500-seat Sugar Bowl at Tulane University.

However, city officials were hoping to construct a domed all-weather sports stadium which would be home to the football club and available for other events.

Construction depends on whether voters in the state approve a constitutional amendment Nov. 8 authorizing the project, which would be paid for by a tax on hotel and motel rooms hereabouts.

Rozelle said no one has the inside track in the bidding for ownership of the New Orleans club.

"We are going to immediately go into an investigation of the financial responsibility of those who have applied, their background, their character and this might take a couple of weeks," he added.

It was learned that Louis J. Rousseau, a New Orleans oilman-financier, has lined up enough solid support from NFL club owners to block any other applicant.

The new club will be given special concessions enabling it to draft men from the college ranks and also from other NFL clubs to stock its roster. However, details have not been settled.

New York, Detroit Lead Individually

NEW YORK (AP) — Detroit and New York have managed only three victories between them so far this season, but look at the National Hockey League's scoring figures show seven Red Wings and Rangers bunched among the top ten individual scorers.

Figures released by the NHL today show only Chicago's Stan Mikita and Bobby Hull at Montreal's Bobby Rousseau breaking the Detroit-New York dominance.

Mikita shares the lead with Detroit's Norm Ullman. Each has scored 11 points, Mikita has three goals and eight assists and Ullman on one goal and 10 assists.

Paul Henderson, Detroit's right-handed shooting left wing, scored six goals in two games last week and shot into this place with 8-1-9. Henderson also leads the league in goals.

New York's Phil Goyette fourth with eight points — all assists. Hull, with four goals and three assists is fifth.

Five players are tied with six points each. Donnie Marshall, the Rangers has 4-2-6 with teammate Rod Gilbert at Rousseau show 3-3-6. Andy Bathgate of the Red Wings has two goals, four assists and Detroit's Floyd Smith shows a 1-5-6 slate.

Bulls Paying Off for Their Rapid Start

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Chicago Bulls are paying off for their rapid start which hoisted them into a short-lived lead in the Western Division of the National Basketball Association.

The Bulls, who opened season two weeks ago with victory over the San Francisco Warriors, were handed the fourth straight setback, 137-112 Tuesday night by the same Warriors.

San Francisco climbed into first-place tie with Detroit on the strength of the triumph, while the Bulls slumped into fourth place, 1 1/2 games ahead of place Los Angeles.

Chicago started fast again and held a 34-32 lead at quarter. But the Warriors poured in 38 points in the second quarter to take a 70-56 time lead and led by as much as 30 points in the second half.

Three games are scheduled the NBA Wednesday night at Baltimore at Chicago, Los Angeles at Boston and New York at Cincinnati.

The Baltimore Orioles were picked on the last place New York Yankees in 1966. Birds won 15 of 18 games played. It was the most one-sided season in both leagues.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

No Specific Treatment For Viral Hepatitis

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D. Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

(First of two related articles)

Some diseases are seasonal. One that is prevalent in late fall and early winter is infectious hepatitis. Although it is most commonly seen in children between the ages of 5 and 15, it may affect persons of any age and is more severe in adults than in children.

Its incubation period is four to six weeks or about half that of the closely related serum hepatitis.

Both diseases are caused by a virus. The term viral hepatitis includes both types.

Infectious hepatitis is transmitted chiefly through drinking water but it may result from eating shellfish taken from polluted beds. Proper chlorination of the water supply will prevent this disease.

The vacationer who drinks clear, sparkling spring water which the natives "have been drinking for years and never had a sick day" may justifiably enjoy the taste but sparkle and taste are no guarantee of freedom from the hepatitis virus.

Serum hepatitis is transmitted by the blood serum of a person who has had the disease. Many persons have a mild attack that goes undiagnosed or is thought to have been a mild case of influenza. If such a person gives blood to a blood bank there is no way to detect the virus. If its presence is suspected there is no way to remove it without destroying the blood. For this reason transfusions are becoming an ever-increasing cause of hepatitis.

In the early stages of viral hepatitis the victim complains of abdominal pain, vomiting, low fever, weakness and listlessness. There is nothing about this set of symptoms to distinguish it from many other generalized infections. As the disease progresses a deep jaundice may develop. This is a great aid in the diagnosis but it is estimated that less than half of the victims ever develop jaundice.

The disease lasts from two to four weeks but in some victims full recovery of the former vigor may take four to six months. Full recovery does, however, occur with no complications and no permanent aftereffects.

Since there is no specific treatment, good nursing care and relief of symptoms are the main therapeutic goals. Bed rest in the first two weeks is essential and, if vomiting is severe, feeding by vein may be necessary. When the nausea has abated a balanced diet should be taken with the bulk of the day's intake given in the morning. It is best to avoid alcohol for three or four months after recovery.

Can Swallow Man

It is possible for the sperm whale to swallow a man. No human, however, could possibly live in a whale's stomach as he would be smothered immediately.

Oswald says: "When you can ruff something in dummy you are tempted to do it first and think later. After all, that's a major use for dummy's trumps."

Jim: "It is a lot better to put in some study first. There may be better things to do with the dummy."

Oswald: "In particular when dummy holds a long suit you should always see what you can do to set that suit up. Sometimes you can make a lot of tricks that way."

Jim: "If South decides to try to ruff clubs after winning the first diamond it won't be any trouble at all for the defense to knock him right out of the box. If he works with that nice six-card heart suit in dummy he clinches his contract and will be likely to wind up with an over-trick."

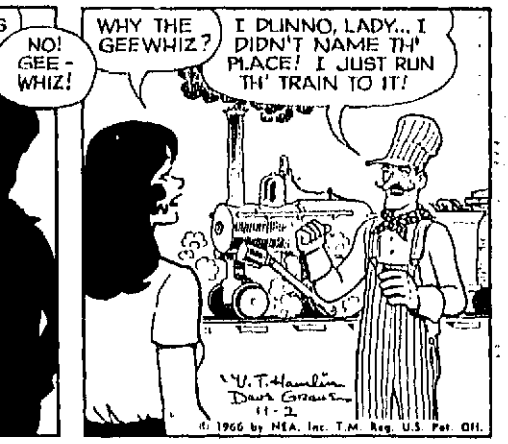

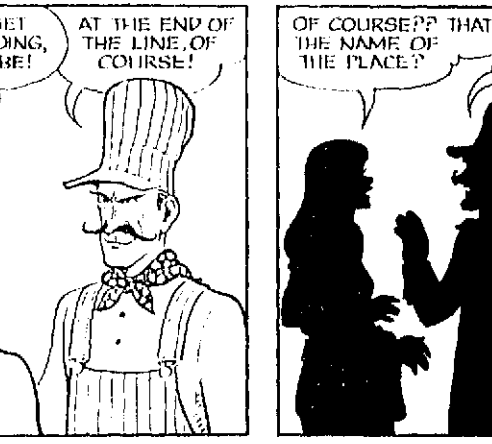

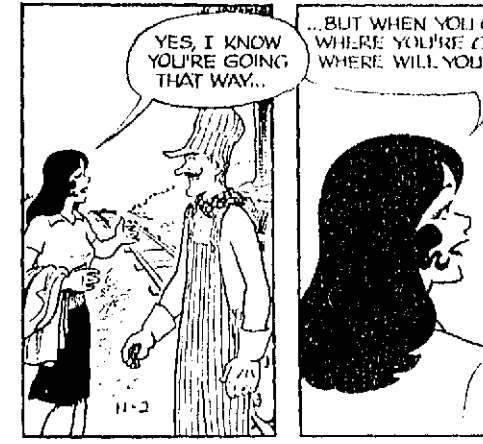

Oswald: "Let's see how things go if South goes after dummy's hearts. He wins the first diamond in his own hand and leads a heart toward dummy. West should play low but South should rise with the king. He has heard West open the bidding. The king holds and a second heart puts West in with the ace. It doesn't matter what he leads but he will probably play the jack of diamonds. South wins in dummy, plays a trump to his jack and a second trump back to dummy. Then he ruffs a heart to set the suit up. After that, all he has to do is get back to dummy with the last trump and cash the last three spades to wind up with an over-trick."

Jim: "It might be worthwhile to comment on the bidding. North chose to bid a heart rather than to make a takeout double because he hoped that his partner could make some bid other than a mere response to a double."

Hunting Deer in the Early Days

BY: Calvin Caldwell

Grazing of the sorghum family—Avoid grazing frosted sudans. Freezing causes prussic acid to be released quickly from the glucoside form in sorghum, sudan or Johnsongrass. This makes frosted grasses of the sorghum family very dangerous until they begin to dry out. Sudan and Johnsongrass are less dangerous because they contain only about two-fifths as much prussic acid as sorghum. There is more danger from second growth and stunted sorghum grasses at frost time because they are small and consist largely of leaves which are high in prussic acid. The prussic acid content of sorghum hay and fodder decreases during curing and escapes in silage in gaseous form while it is being fed so that they can usually be fed with safety.

Forage Testing—Would you like to know the analysis of your hay or silage? A commercial laboratory in Little Rock has agreed to run the test for Arkansas farmers for three dollars. Your forage analysis will show the percent moisture, crude protein, crude fiber, estimated digestible protein, total digestible nutrients and estimated net energy. We have the forms and containers for shipping the samples. If interested get in touch with us.

Armadillos—Armadillos seem to be increasing in this area and have done some damage to property such as flower beds and lawns. It is not recommended that armadillos be killed needlessly as their feeding habits are mainly beneficial under normal conditions. They feed primarily on ants, grasshoppers, crickets, beetles, cutworms, caterpillars, spiders and earthworms.

We have a few copies of a plan for an armadillo trap and will be glad to mail them out on request. It is very similar to the old rabbit gum or trap that many of you will remember building as a boy.

Lice and Tick Control on Cattle — Be prepared to control lice and winter ticks this winter when cattle are brought in around barns for feeding. From November to January apply an insecticide as lice or winter ticks are observed. The recommended materials to use are: Toxaphene, Ronnel, Ruelene, Co-Ral, or Malathion. Any of these materials will normally do the job in one application with the exception of Toxaphene which may need to be applied twice at 10 to 14 days apart.

De Gaulle Can Not Grasp U.S. Policy

By ENDRE MARTON

WASHINGTON (AP) — To understand Charles de Gaulle you should look back through history. It may help, though you may not understand him even then.

This is the advice one gets from Washington policymakers trying to explain the French president's press conference statement last Friday. What he said was hardly new, but the way he said it was more impatient, more acid than before.

Students of history dismiss the simplification that whatever De Gaulle says or does, his motive is to spite his allies. His motive is much nobler: for decades he tried to play the part of a mediator between East and West, the two blocs superior to France in power, but inferior, he believes, in historical experience.

The younger generation cautions against the myth of historical experience. Undersecretary of State Nicholas Katzenbach said in a speech the other day that there is danger in "holding too fast to the lessons of experience and believing too certainly that they were right." De Gaulle is 75, Katzenbach 44.

De Gaulle led the United States cannot win the war in Viet Nam. But in De Gaulle's vocabulary there is only one kind of victory: The annihilation of the enemy. He appears not to grasp that the United States has no such ambition in Viet Nam.

Those annoyed by him today should find comfort in reading records of the war years when President Franklin D. Roosevelt and British Prime Minister Winston Churchill were frustrated by De Gaulle's dreams of grandeur for himself and his country.

"De Gaulle is impossible," Churchill complained to Secretary of State Cordell Hull in May, 1943. "I am completely disgusted by him."

"De Gaulle may be a good man, but he has a Messianic complex," wrote Roosevelt to Churchill in May, 1943. One month later he added: "I am fed up with De Gaulle. I agree with you that the time has come for us to part company with him."

"It is impossible to trust De Gaulle's friendship," replied Churchill in June. But, he advised, "We cannot forget that he joined us in the darkest hours and that he tried to carry on the struggle against the Germans. The man is impossible, but one must take those facts into account."

De Gaulle was aware of what his partners thought of him; therefore he always had to be on the alert. He was either defensive or offensive and seldom agreed with either of them. He did not change in this respect.

Yet even his bitter critics grudgingly accept him as the living symbol of French greatness. He appeared in French history at a time when France was undergoing a fearsome process of aging and he twice pulled the country back onto its feet.

De Gaulle is an aging man. American policy planners ask: Is the regime founded by him the general a Gaullist or merely De Gaulle's? Is Gaullism the work of one man, or is it a coherent doctrine which will survive him?

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — Hundreds of Rhodesians — black and white — are helping Gov. Sir Humphrey Gibbs pay his bills. He lives in near exile, records of the war years when President Franklin D. Roosevelt and British Prime Minister Winston Churchill were frustrated by De Gaulle's dreams of grandeur for himself and his country.

Sir Humphrey is Queen Elizabeth II's representative in Rhodesia, where Smith declared independence last Nov. 11. Rhodesian born, the governor remained loyal to the queen and the British government and stayed at his post, defying demands from Smith's government that he vacate Government House.

The Smith regime doesn't recognize Gibbs. Likewise Sir Humphrey doesn't acknowledge Smith as the lawful authority. Each month Owen gets a $700 demand for the rent of Government House. It's addressed to Stand 8060, Salisbury, since the title "Governor House" irks the Rhodesian government officials. Owen files the demand away and forgets about it.

About the same time as the rent comes due a shoal of letters arrives addressed to the governor. They mostly contain funds to assist in paying running expenses.

Donations to the unofficial "governor's trust fund" came mainly from white Rhodesians but sympathetic blacks also subscribe. An African cook and a priest send $2.80 monthly.

"Sir Humphrey is not a wealthy man," said Owen. "When the illegal Rhodesian government stopped his salary he was broke."

Gibbs depends almost entirely on his salary as the queen's representative in Salisbury, plus the income from a farm. Severe drought has reduced his farming profits to practically nothing. British Prime Minister Harold Wilson offered to pay for everything, but Gibbs declined.

At sunrise Owen ceremoniously raises the British Union Jack, lowering it at sunset before Sir Humphrey and his wife traditionally toast the queen at dinner.

"You have no idea how petty these people (the Rhodesian government) have been to us," Owens says. "It's quite unbelievable. But things are a little easier now. Many friends have come to our aid and the governor's 'trust fund' enables us to keep our heads above water."

8-Year-Old Center of Custody Fight

By BARRY SCHWEID

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mark Painter's grandparents, fighting to hold on to the 8-year-old boy, have told the Supreme Court the "rights" of natural parents should not be allowed to outweigh a child's welfare.

Mark is the central figure in an historic child-custody case. At the moment under an Iowa Supreme Court ruling, he is being cared for by his grandparents, Dwight and Margaret Bannister of Ames, Iowa, but his father, Harold W. Painter of Brookdale, Calif., has asked the Supreme Court to clear the way for the boy's return.

Mark's mother and younger sister were killed in an auto crash in 1962. Painter left the boy with the Bannisters the next summer. After remarrying in November 1964 he began a court fight to get Mark back.

Last February the Iowa Supreme Court blocked the way, partly on the ground Painter leads a "bohemian life" and that he is "either an agnostic or atheist and has no concern for formal religious training."

It is not unusual for an American court to rule against parents in custody disputes. But in such instances the court usually has found that the parent is unfit or has abandoned the child.

Such is not the case here, The Iowa Supreme Court said in its unanimous decision "there is no suggestion in the record that Mr. Painter is morally unfit."

Moreover, the court said "there is no merit in the banister claim that Mr. Painter permanently relinquished custody. It was intended to be a temporary arrangement."

But it went on to say the home he and his new wife would offer Mark would be "romantic, impractical, and unstable." The grandparents' home, the court said, was more desirable because it offered a "stable, conventional, middle-class, Middle West background" with a "secure atmosphere."

B.W. Edwards, Hope contractor and collector of unusual items, ran across this old picture of an early frontier deer hunt. As you can see on the cabin and horse, deer seemed to be real plentiful around this early log cabin which appears

Cong Badly Needs a Big Victory

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent
SAIGON (AP)—U.S. military men say the Communists in Viet Nam are desperately in need of a significant battle victory, and probably are building up in the north for an attempt to achieve one.

Military sources say Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the U.S. commander in Viet Nam, is concerned about the demilitarized zone between North and South Viet Nam, created by the 1954 Geneva conference which divided the nation.

Signs of a big Communist buildup have been detected in the general area along with indications that the North Vietnamese 324B Division, badly hurt by the U.S. Marines' Operation Hastings in August, is being reactivated.

U.S. attention also is turned to the south — to the Mekong Delta area, where up to now there has been no major American deployment. An American drive into the delta is in prospect.

An upsurge in Viet Cong terror in many areas of South Viet Nam is interpreted as a reflection of Communist frustration.

Military men say the Viet Cong are showing an increased disinclination to stand and fight anywhere, preferring instead to use their old hit-and-run tactics.

Military men's assessments of the over-all situation are tinged with cautious optimism, although they admit that in present circumstances victory is a long way off.

Despite the trace of optimism, little has changed in Viet Nam for many months except that it is now regarded as impossible for the Americans to be defeated.

REFLECTIVE WARRIOR is shown near Da Nang in South Viet Nam. The GI's image was portrayed in water of a rice paddy while he searched the area for Viet Cong.

Speaks at Kiwanis Meet

Dr. Leland Gregg, 70-year-old retired Methodist minister now living in Magnolia, was principal speaker before Hope Kiwanis Club Tuesday and used as his topic "The Brighter Side of Life."

He talked of enthusiasm, confidence, faith, loyalty, devotion and dignity of man down through the years in which countless number of changes have been made and concluded by declaring that "we must learn to live together or die together."

The program was arranged by John Graves. A guest of the club was George Covington, Conway.

Reaction to Johnson Trip Is Divided

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
World reaction to President Johnson's trip and the Manila conference runs the gamut from optimism through doubt to pessimism.

This is evident from an Associated Press survey of capitals not on the Johnson itinerary, and from a cross-section of opinion at the United Nations.

There Frank Aiken, foreign minister of Ireland, told a reporter: "I would say it appears to have been a very successful trip for the President."

As for the prospects for improvement in the Southeast Asia situation, Aiken said "the trip has provided a chance for the ministers to coordinate their views."

At the other end of the opinion scale, Tanzanian Ambassador J. W. Malecela observed: "As far as clearing the path to peace, the trip has accomplished nothing."

This African delegate added: "The communique issued in Manila means very little. What concerns us now is not what is going to happen after the fighting stops but how to stop the fighting."

Ambassador Jose Pinera of Chile said: "I don't think it had any direct contribution to peace. I don't think President Johnson had that idea in mind. It was an effort of countries participating in Viet Nam to close ranks. From that point it appears successful."

There has been no official British reaction to Manila, but privately officials in London have hailed Johnson's efforts in Asian diplomacy, mainly for encouragement to Asians to join in setting up their own defense system.

The magazine Economist commented: "Before any stable system could be built around the periphery of China it was necessary for the United States to show that it was in earnest. Whatever verdict history eventually passes on Mr. Johnson's policy in Viet Nam, he has shown that the United States is as willing to exert its influence in Asia as it is in Europe."

Car Damaged in Accident

At Third and Main Streets this morning cars driven by Mrs. H.O. Kyler and Noah Gene Bradford collided with considerable damage resulting to the Bradford vehicle, according to investigating Officer John Shirley. Nobody was hurt and no charges were filed.

President Ends Tour

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—Ending a 17-day tour of Asian and Pacific nations, President Johnson arrived back in the United States at 11:36 p.m. AST Wednesday night, landing at nearby Elmendorf Air Force Base.

Charges Fly in Last Days of Campaign

Associated Press Writer

The two candidates for governor of Arkansas turned into the final seven days of campaigning Tuesday with Republican Winthrop Rockefeller leading the day's charge toward next week's general election.

Rockefeller accused the Democratic nominee, Jim Johnson, of currying the favor of welfare recipients with promises of increased welfare payments. Then, stumping Northeast Arkansas, the GOP candidate called Johnson "a conceited ass" who had betrayed his supporters.

Johnson spent a quiet day at his headquarters in Little Rock receiving delegations of his supporters, but Rockefeller's welfare charge didn't go unanswered.

Joe Basore, the Democratic campaign manager, said Rockefeller's accusation had "further demonstrated his lack of qualification" for governor because Johnson's welfare payment pledge was merely paraphrasing the Democratic platform position.

Basore also intimated that Rockefeller spied on Democratic campaign headquarters last week by sending a photographer—a "paid henchman"—to headquarters under the guise of a reporter.

Rockefeller released a copy of a Johnson letter than he said was sent to welfare recipients in which Johnson gave assurances that persons on welfare roles would receive a $5 increase in the first six months next year. The letter added that if the legislature approved there would be another $5 increase on their checks in the last six months of the year.

Basore countered that the letter was explaining the method of implementing the increase.

He said Rockefeller's "next momentous announcement" probably would concern personnel working in Democratic campaign headquarters.

Basore said a photographer representing himself as a reporter for a Jackson, Miss., newspaper made photographs of the workers and "threatened some . . . with public exposure because they had previously been employees of the state, or were working off duty, on their own time."

"The harassment of our headquarters personnel by his (Rockefeller's) paid henchmen, who gained admission through an outright misrepresentation, is indicative of the tactics used by Rockefeller throughout this campaign," Basore said.

At Osceola, Rockefeller was asked to comment on claims by Johnson that his nomination in the Democratic primary influenced the defeat of the 1966 civil rights bill, the federal government's position on the Viet Nam war and helped head off the spiral of inflation.

"If you force me into giving you one answer," Rockefeller said, "as I've always said, he's a conceited ass."

Rockefeller also said Johnson was desperate and had betrayed everyone who voted for him before.

Rockefeller spoke to about 300 persons at Osceola. He said part of Arkansas' economic prosperity was due to the Viet Nam war expenditures and he wanted to put the economy on a sounder basis.

Later at Jonesboro, Rockefeller said he would like Johnson "to tell us about his administrative background." Rockefeller said Johnson had questioned his administrative ability, adding: "I would like to ask him to tell us a good many things he doesn't choose to tell."

Fendler said, however, that he was withdrawing his resignation and challenged Leon Catlett, chairman of the state Democratic Party, to remove him.

Weather in U.S. Varies; 10 Deaths

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Searing heat which spawned and helped spread man-killing brush fires in Southern California contrasted today with a snow-laced surge of arctic air over much of the nation's mid- and eastern regions.

Temperatures which climbed to 101 Tuesday at the Los Angeles International Airport and dropped near zero in North Dakota early today underlined the dramatic split character of the nation's climate.

The hottest November day in history brought death to 10 firefighters who were overtaken Tuesday by a sheet of flame in a 2,100-acre brush blaze in Los Angeles County. Today was another scorcher in Southern California. Those killed were among 25 caught in a firestorm swept along by turbulent wind on a steep, rocky ridge near Pacoima Reservoir.

The cold front dropped 13 inches of snow at Hurley, Wis., and spread wintertime temperatures in the Plains and Midwest.

The chill front pressed into Alabama and upstate New York, loosing rain in many localities as it arrived. At Ft. Benning, Ga., 1.11 inches fell in six hours.

Snow flurries were widespread in the Midwest.

The Weather Bureau warned farmers of freezes through southeast Kansas, northwest Missouri and northern and eastern New Mexico.

Brazil Not Seeking Extradition

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—Brazilian authorities apparently will not seek extradition of two Arkansans and a Texan who escaped last week from a prison in Brasilia where they were serving three-year sentences for smuggling.

The U.S. Embassy here said Monday that the Justice Ministry issued a statement saying it would be no use to request extradition since "no country grants extradition to one of its own nationals."

The extradition treaty between Brazil and the United States does not specifically prohibit extradition of nationals by their own country, but the Brazilian constitution does.

Sam Sexton Jr., 42, and Joseph McCutchen, 36, both of Fort Smith, and Joe Truhill, 47, of Richardson, Tex., escaped the prison early Friday and flew to Texas.

U.S. officials said it is unlikely that the men would be handed over if Brazil requested it.

Officials here said that American diplomats had spent thousands of man hours on their case since February.

"The whole office in Brasilia has done practically nothing else for months," a top U.S. Embassy official said.

A two-foot thick file in the embassy here holds the documents, correspondence and messages dealing with the case. "I can't think of another single problem on which so much time has been spent by the consulate and the embassy," an official said.

At Fort Smith, Sexton said he understood from his attorney that Brazilian newspapers were quoting him as saying the U.S. Embassy had arranged for the escape.

11,000 Strike in Ceylon

COLOMBO, Ceylon (AP)—Police patrolled Colombo's streets and guarded key points today as 11,000 employees, mostly white-collar workers, went on strike.

The strike followed the failure of protracted negotiations for higher salaries and a collective agreement under which employees were to get one over-all salary instead of a salary and allowances.

American Troops in Viet Nam to Reach 400,000 by Jan. 1

By BOB HORTON

WASHINGTON (AP)—Pentagon sources predict U.S. manpower in South Viet Nam will surge to 382,000 by the end of December and move past the 400,000 mark in January.

Plans for this expansion from the 336,000 troops now in the Southeast Asian country are considered all but definite.

Beyond early 1967, however, the view is less clear and the Pentagon is in the process of calculating what it believes future military needs will be.

Sources said latest additions to the war will likely be elements of the 9th Infantry Division which was activated last year and has been training for duty since January.

The 9th, with a strength of about 17,000, is virtually combat ready. In addition to it, a number of support-type units with thousands of troops have been tapped for duty.

When and where the infantry division will deploy is secret for security reasons. There have been reports it would be sent to South Viet Nam's rice-rich delta region, now defended largely by South Vietnamese troops.

Military officials say the Pentagon is at a crossroads in mapping out the course of the war beyond early 1967. One reason: This is budget-planning time, a period when the services lay out their monetary needs.

Moreover, the Saigon command has recommended a buildup to at least a half-million men, while at home Congressional predictions on the required forces have gone as high as 600,000.

And at least one ranking military officer believes 750,000 men will be needed to overcome the Communists both on the field and in the hamlets where the so-called "other war" for the support of the Vietnamese is being waged.

Aides of Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said, however, he has no intention of recommending an expansion of this magnitude under present conditions.

The armed forces already have exceeded force levels planned for mid-1967 by a full year but spokesmen for the services say they cannot state what future increases might be.

May Withdraw School Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Department of Health, Education and Welfare said Monday that it had received recommendations to withdraw federal financial aid for two Arkansas school districts—Fordyce No. 39 in Dallas County and Marvell No. 22 in Phillips County.

The recommendations went to Welfare Secretary John W. Gardner for his action, which is expected to be approval. The department received similar recommendations on 12 other southern school districts, all charged with failure to conform to desegregation guidelines.

All Around Town

The local office of Southwest Bell Telephone Company will hold open house Friday, 3-8:30 p.m., and Saturday 2-8:30 p.m., to give the public the opportunity to view the recent remodeling of the building and to see the facilities for direct dialing. School students in Hope and surrounding communities have been taking tours of the office Monday through Wednesday of this week. Everyone is invited to the open house.

Bethany Baptist Church, Spring Hill, will welcome its new preacher Sunday, Nov. 6, he will preach his first sermon at 7:30 p.m. and all members are urged to be present.

Four Hope area students are among the 822 enrolled at Evangel College this fall. They are Carol Cranford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T.C. Cranford. She is a freshman elementary education major. Joe Hargis, son of Mrs. Ruth Hargis, is also an elementary education major and is a junior. Sandra Harmon is a freshman general education ma-

Prisoners
Stage Sit-down
LONDON (AP)—The Home Office disclosed today that 150 prisoners staged a sitdown strike inside Wormwood Scrubs jail because some privileges were withdrawn after the escape of master spy George Blake 10 days ago.

The prisoners, all in the jail's security wing, refused to return to their cells Sunday after supper and sat at tables chanting, "Blake, Blake, Blake." After an hour they went back to their cells without any trouble, officials said.

Blake, 44, a double agent, had served only 5½ years of a 42-year sentence for passing top secret documents to the Soviet Union.

N. Koreans Attack, Kill 6 Americans

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—Six American soldiers and a South Korean were killed early today when North Korean soldiers attacked a U. N. Command patrol about 800 yards south of the demilitarized zone, the U.S. Army announced.

Another American was wounded but was reported in good condition.

The Army said the action began with a North Korean grenade attack about 4:15 a.m., nearly eight hours before President Johnson left Seoul at the end of his Asian tour.

The seven Americans from the U.S. 2nd Infantry Division were on patrol when they were ambushed.

"Search patrols discovered the wounded man and the slain soldiers," the Army said.

The surviving American reported that the attackers wore North Korean army uniforms. The U.S. Army said it empty shell casings in the area from which the ambush was launched were Communist-made.

The attack was the most serious along the Korean armistice line in months, but ever since President Johnson's visit to South Korea was announced there have been an increasing number of North Korean attacks. Some observers in Seoul thought the Communists were trying to put pressure on the South Koreans to resist any American requests for more troops for Viet Nam.

2 Arkansas HD Agents Are Honored

Lorraine Wylie

Two Arkansas Home Demonstration Agents received Distinguished Service Awards at a recognition brunch at the National Association of Extension Home Economists meeting here today. They were Mrs. Nancy Estes of Waldron in Scott county and Mrs. Lorraine B. Wylie of Clarksville in Johnson county.

The awards were presented by the National Association of Extension Home Economists for outstanding service in the field of home economics and family.

Mrs. Wylie was born at Yellville. She started to work for the Agricultural Extension Service as Assistant Home Demonstration Agent in Johnson county and has worked as Home Demonstration Agent in Polk and Hempstead counties. She has held her present position as Home Demonstration Agent in Johnson county since October 1, 1959.

Prior to coming with Extension Service, she taught school at Fayetteville, was assistant home supervisor with Farmers Home Administration at Paragould and Clarendon.

She holds a Bachelor of Science Degree in Home Economics from the University of Arkansas in 1939 and a Master's in general home economics, January, 1962.

During her home demonstration career, she has worked with Extension Homemakers Clubs and 4-H Clubs, taught short courses in nutrition and home furnishings, and taught home economics subjects to the Home Management Aides of A.R.V.A.C. Inc.

She is a member of the American and Arkansas Home Economics Associations, the Clarksville A.A.U.W., Business and Professional Women's Club, and is active in the Methodist Church.

She is the wife of Charles Wylie, who is employed by the City of Clarksville and is a farmer. She is the mother of two children, Mrs. Harvey Taylor, Jr., of Rogers, and James Blackwood of Clarksville.
